

WILD BOOK TALKS

With Anna Turns

In partnership with The Bull Inn, at The Albatross, our Wild Book Talks continue with author, journalist, and broadcaster Anna Turns talking about going toxic free.

You are invited to an evening with Anna Turns talking about her book, Go Toxic Free: Easy and Sustainable Ways to Reduce Chemical Pollution

Hardback, published 2022, £14.99

Anna Turns is an Oxford University biology graduate and journalist specialising in sustainability issues. She writes regularly for The Guardian, Wicked Leeks and many other publications.

Anna investigated the synthetic chemicals in her own body - from pesticides to flame retardants - how they got there and why it matters, which was broadcast as My Toxic Cocktail on BBC Radio 4's Costing the Earth.

In 2017 she founded her own environmental campaign, Plastic Clever Salcombe, which focuses on reducing single-use plastics and empowering children to make change.

At The Albatross, on Monday 17th Oct

Doors open at 6:45 pm for a 7:00pm start until 8:30pm

Tickets £3.00 each, available at www.eastgatebookshop.co.uk or in person at the East Gate Bookshop
